KEN YOUNG: Biography

Ken Young specialized in labor and employment law, on the defense side, during his 30 year career and was certified as a Specialist in Employment and Labor Law by the South Carolina Supreme Court. He began his career with a national labor and employment firm, Ogletree Deakins Nash Smoak & Stewart, and was most recently with a full service law firm with 12 offices from Boston to Atlanta and over 400 attorneys, Nelson Mullins Riley & Scarborough. At Nelson Mullins, Ken was head of the labor and employment group for 20 years. He was lead or co-counsel in over 25 published opinions at all levels, from state and federal district courts, the National Labor Relations Board, U.S. Circuit Courts of Appeal and the United States Supreme Court. Ken, a fellow of the national College of Labor and Employment Lawyers, is consistently recognized in The Best Lawyers in America and in Chambers USA: America's Leading Lawyers for Business. Corporate Counsel Magazine named Ken to its 2008 list of the best labor and employment lawyers in America.

Long active in the American Bar Association, Ken represented the Young Lawyers Division on the ABA's Board of Governors and has continuously thereafter served in the ABA's House of Delegates in various capacities, including as an officer of the ABA's Labor & Employment Law Section (as the Section's management delegate to the House of Delegates). He was also elected to the House of Delegates four times by attorneys nationwide as a delegate-at-large. Ken has served as Chair of the Advisory Board for the ABA National Legal Resource for Child Advocacy and Protection in Washington, D.C., and as a member of The South Carolina Bar Board of Governors.
